Delivers Verdict On Social Credit After
Prolonged and Careful Consideration

Looking at the Aberhart Social Credit scheme in a cold dispassionate business way, allowing no sentiment to sway the analysis which is necessary if it is to be put into effect in Alberta, and which will be its portion by outside agencies, commercially, financially and legally, members of the council of the Edmonton Chamber of Commerce, after prolonged deliberation, keen scrutiny, and the most careful consideration from every angle, have delivered their verdict in regard to the Aberhart Social Credit scheme.

NEW CAMPAIGN TO BREAK OPPosition TO REICH IS AIM

PROPERTY TAX SYSTEM DRAWS FIRE AT MEET

This might not be the case, but the needs of every province of Canada, particularly Alberta, appear to suggest that real property alone in many local areas could not bear the tax.

Dr. Putman's preference was for large school areas, 100 to 200 square miles, to be taxed at a rate of one-half cent per acre, the major part of the cost borne locally except where the assessment per capita was less than $100.

Local areas ought to receive equalization grants from the provincial treasurer.

AWAYS WASTE

There was always waste, said Dr. Putman, where one body taxes and another spends.

"In the matter of common knowledge that a considerable part of the federal grant in aid of technical and agricultural education is not wisely spent," said Dr. Putman.

Dr. Putman took issue with the suggestion that the federal government ought to strive for a system of national education.

This would mean that education from provincial to federal control. Dr. Putman said he knew no better way to spend money more to injure the cause of education and stir up interprovincial quarrels than by such a proposal.

But they could achieve this unity only by respecting each other's

HAVE TO PROVE PRODUCT

If they agreed they needed national schools supported by the national treasury, the product would be better or the cost less. There would be no saving, however, that could come from the taxpayers.

The question of professional standards of teaching in Alberta had overshadowed every other issue of the organization during the past year. The campaign culminated with a different section of the legislature proposing the last session, passed the teaching professional, but enacted by the provincial legislature, the Alberta Teachers' Association's optional instead of "registration" in the profession. This was a minimum requirement as a condition of granting the profession of teaching.

STELLY ON DECLINE

The number of Alberta teachers had steadily on the decline since 1929 when the average salary of the teacher was $1,500.

It had now dropped to $729.

"We believe that this downward trend will continue and has been less severe than in any other province in the dominion with the exception of Quebec and Columbia. Success in stemming the tide must be held attributable to the fact that we have a minimum requirement of an annual salary of $540."

There was, however, a provision in the act that the minister of education may consent to the school board having a teacher's salary less than the statutory minimum salary. We might be compelled to repeat the statement that the teachers' bars considerably," said the speaker.

Mr. Bennett continued.

OVER-SUPPLY OF TEACHERS

"As in other provinces throughout the dominion there is a bewildering over-supply of teachers and the tendency seems to be to diminish." The Edmonton normal school was closed during the years of 1932-33, but provision has been made for reopening this fall. The suggested legislation mentioned might discuss this question of over-supply of teachers in that there seem to be tendencies on the part of provincial governments to close normal schools as a harborage for young men and women who have passed through high school. Normal schools and normal schools seem to be used for the purpose of providing young people with a job for life.

It seems to us that this is neither in the interests of the educational system nor of the teaching profession.

ANXIETY IMPLIED
Anxiety over the possibility of an outbreak led by the organization implied in a statement issued by Minister of Justice Franz von Papen against illegal possession of arms. He charged that foreigners and Germans were making an effort to find a way to halt an Ethiopian regime.

The decision was said to have been taken at a meeting of Dr. Samuel Baldwin, Anthony Eden and Sir Samuel Hoare, foreign secretary, and Sir Edward Wood, chief of staff, at which the British Foreign Office was given detailed secret instructions for British policy in the event of an Ethiopian revolt.

tary Manager John Blue, the Chamber of Commerce, which ordinarily takes no part in politics, but which considers the present situation so serious that it has decided to support Mr. Aberhart's scheme on Tuesday night or early Wednesday with the following resolution:

"We are a non-political organization, but we are members of the Economic Safety League of Alberta, whose activities we welcome, our members being engaged in business. In all ordinary circumstances, therefore, we refrain from comment on political matters. For instance, the annual convention of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, which it shall not be held on the eve of the Dominion election.

"But we cannot remain silent when so many distressed people, glowing promises are being made which can never be fulfilled. They are impossible of realization because they are based on basic facts of which we have intimate knowledge and experience."

"We fear Mr. Aberhart will claim that his plan is the only one for his real estate, financial organizing, and speech making ability. We fear, too, that his position he has gained by his religious activities. But that position and its responsibilities are responsibilities Zeal may be and often has been misdirected. The more we know about the people but cannot correct facts. We appeal to Mr. Aberhart to consider well before he acts. We assure him that it is offered with all respect and in no personal way."

"Both earnestly desire the same thing—the improvement of material conditions for ourselves and our fellow citizens. But they will not be improved but made much worse. They will be improved in ways that seem new and glorious, but which lead nowhere and to nothing. They will be the most part merely man's old errors with new names."

"We fear that the neglect of the past—big and deep warning of the proper tenure whereby thou hast the right to keep what thou has a much more humbler and patient process."—"Aberholly tracing what must be and what may yet be better."

CANNOT MEET ARGUMENTS

As we do not impugn Mr. Aberhart's character, we hope that he will respect ours. If any of his followers do otherwise, we remind people that they do not meet our arguments.

Even though we have most difficult grounds, our welfare is bound up with that of every section of the community. The foundation of all else of the workers in mine, forest and fisheries of ours is the welfare of the people. They are proper to our situation and resources and of all salary and wage earners.

We venture to think that the hope of creating out of nothing, while it may be a good idea, is a plan resting on a fundamental fallacy as to the nature of banking credit. It is the same as the banker who "with a fountain pen entry in a ledger" creates credit based on the fact that he wants security he wants security on lots of suitable assets fully pledged to him. The same is true in all its intents. It is the same as if we paraded with ownership of the assets of the Bank of Canada, in fact, with the right to buy them back by paying off the loan.

These are the main specific areas affecting the credit. We have made no specific case where they have done.

Will Arrange By-Election
If Party Gets Into Power He Says

CALGARY, Aug. 7.—William Aberhart, leader of the Social Credit party here, said today he will be re-elected in some form of by-election during a huge tax scheme.

He suggested that the tax scheme be "recovered" from the people.

We fear Mr. Aberhart's plan as a colonial scheme of fiscal taxation.

For taxes, or both, he must find more than $120,000,000 a year for basic dividends, to be paid to the young people, credit issued to producers and distributors, etc.

He says there is no help for him in his "flow of credit" idea. The dividend for re-issue only as it collects in taxes.)

We fear Mr. Aberhart's plan as a colonial scheme of fiscal taxation.

Such taxes on all of our business operations will drive business out to neighboring provinces where they can operate more cheaply.

The products of other provinces cannot be kept out because Alberta cannot put up customs houses on her borders and has no control over the railways and freight and express delivery of mail.

All he can do is attempt to tax us, or another—probably one government inspector to every 50 people would be required.

We fear Mr. Aberhart's attempt to fix just Prices on all of his services changing almost daily.

No single article will have to be taxed, but the by-election leader declared that at both the Calgary and Edmonton Social Credit meetings he had proposed opposing his entry as a candidate so that he might be kept from having to compete in the provincial legislature.

Stating that he was born in 1885, he wants to recover all his real and personal debts, taking the real money he has earned, excepting his certificates instead, such heavy salaried men on all the professions, retail trade, market and reduce his income, thus generally crippling him in competing with others in the field of business and countries.

To be cut out of additional taxation and interference with prices which will almost certainly bankrupt Alberta coal all its outside markets.

To induce him generally, such business leaders as he will be close up most Alberta establishments and give him a large percentage of all sales and certainly in all outside markets, in their competitors in foreign production.

To all merchants, wholesale and retail, especially in small towns, interfere with prices and heavy taxation, having to pay for what he will not be able to sell with good money, which will soon close up most houses and all other business in Alberta and other concerns outside the borders of the province. (If, in fact, he can't find any "good money" to make payment).

To employees, either a drop in real wages and the standard of living having to take their loss in dependence on certificates, or alternatively, loss of employment of all kinds, another another is cut out of Alberta.

To consumers generally, higher prices, particularly because of the sales taxes.

We are already suffering greatly from the confusion and lack of confidence caused by the making of these proposals. This is all, the more dangerous, because of the theory of social credit, but let us probe it sensibly, and then deal with our findings in a progressive manner.

We have felt it our duty, as business men having knowledge of the situation, to speak to the public, when fellacious arguments, even if advanced in good faith, threaten to bring down the house of cards.

Today, Mr. Howson left for the west where he is to speak on a western territory speaking tour at Cardston, concluding there for the remainder of the present week.

FEAR ATTEMPT

Finally, we fear the attempt to introduce Alberta for this experiment, creating friction between Alberta and other provinces and the Dominion. All this is just at a time when we need and could much help from the Dominion and help from the rest of the world.

Let us point out what our apprehensions mean to various sections.

To the farmer, they mean in-

IS IT AS BAD AS THAT?

Hon. J. Russell Love says the quarterly cash statement of the province will be issued in the course of a few days. That is as far as of course. But what about releasing the auditor's report for the fiscal year which ended with March last? Now we from the Canadian Freeport as to when that report will see the light of day. Why the impressive silence—and the indefinite delay? The Minister intimates that he and his colleagues are pained by the suggestion they are deliberately withholding information. What else could they expect?

In 1929 when there was a thumping big surprise to announce the report made its appearance in May. The next year the surplus was smaller, but the report was published in July. Then came the period of deficits—deficits—deficits. The report was delayed until the year ended four months ago and the elections two weeks away, the report is still unpublished and the public without the information as to provincial finances they can get nowhere else.

If the Ministers have it in their own interest to suppress it is their own business. The reason shows there were surprises announced they had no trouble getting the report out early in the summer. The conclusion is entirely natural that last year's report is being withheld because it will have bad news to tell—news the Government would rather not tell until the voting is over.

NEW YORK—AS USUAL.

With the Bank of Canada holding enough surplus gold to issue the money, and the chartered banks piled full of money they do not know what to do with, Ottawa announced it is arranging to borrow in New York the $76,000,000 needed to retire bonds maturing at the first of September.

One can, in a way, understand why a "sound money" Government should persist in keeping the country in debt when there is no reason for it and no means enough to get rid of it. The time is "the saving grace," practice, as laid down in the code and explained by the Premier some time ago.

Borrowing being the orthodox way of getting money, even when gold is lying idle somewhere in the vaults, the Government has gone with the traditional superstition by which it is guided that the Government should float new bonds to replace the old ones; whatever one may think of the absurdity of maintaining so baseless and ruinous a policy.

But why peddle the new bonds in New York? Has Ottawa forgotten what New York did to it, and to the Canadian provinces and municipalities? When circumstances permitted it to do so, the Canadian Government took a firm position and demand a premium when debt had to be paid there?

Has the "Canada first" Government so wrecked confidence in everything Canadian that it can't even sell its own bonds in Canada at a rate it would or dare accept?

THE "CORPORATION CONNECTIONS"?

Mr. Bourassa, independent member of parliament for Labelle, told a gathering of his constituents that Right Hon. Mackenzie King is the only party leader in Canada who is not tied up to the money power.

It is not surprising that Mr. Bennett personally is guilty of connections with these powers, but the majority of his immediate intimates are, and that is why I say the Conservative party is in disfavor with the people. It is the same with Mr. Stevens and Mr. Woodsworth.

The surprise is in the concluding sentence. There is no secret about the "corporation connections" of the Government—to adopt the happy phrase used by Colgate Head in referring to the political ambitions of Mr. Bennett. That Mr. Stevens, having jointly responsible with Mr. Bennett for creating the Government and framing its policies, should be open to such a charge is understandable to those who can see it.

But when Mr. Bourassa says Mr. Woodsworth is tied up to the money powers he invites interest. The C.C.F. leader has been quite vocal in his protest that he is peculiar enemy of the barons of St. James, and has actively cultivated the idea. What can the Independent member for Labelle be alluding to, or on what is he basing the accusation?

Can it be that Mr. Woodsworth, thinking about the action of the U.P.A. members who voted a year ago to set up a privately-owned Central Bank? Are these the "immediate intimates" who the Mr. Woodsworth is the money powers?

THE STRANGLERS

Men, H. H. Stevens told a Victoria audience the banks "strangled business" when they started to call in loans cut off credit, and put all the money they could get hands on into Government bonds.

That isn't news, though the banks did not do all the strangling by any means. Neither is there anything mysterious about it, as the leader of Conservative party No. 2 would be able to give his preconceptions did not obscure his vision.

For Mr. Stevens proceeded to inform his audience that there are no such things as foreign markets worth bothering about, and it is only a waste of time to talk about them.

The banks long ago recognized that to be the opinion of Mr. Stevens and his associates; and they foresaw what must be the result if these gentlemen barred the doors against foreign trade and controlled the Canadian market to the detriment of the relationships of a hermit nation. That was why the bankers called in loans, cut off credit, and bought Government bonds.

Whatever their faults, the bankers are not dumb. They could learn from others that the world is not their oyster.

That is not because this city has forgotten the dark days of war; or is not appreciative of the sacrifices made by its citizens who are now sleeping in Flanders Fields and other war fronts. Far from it. Trade unions too have learned from such to be the case. Each year on Remembrance Day thousands gather to attend the solemn services held, and welcome the opportunity to do so. Last year the Canadian Legion erected a temporary cenotaph, at which an impressive ceremony took place, and in which thousands of citizens took part.

Should Edmonton erect a permanent Cenotaph? A strong and very representative committee has been formed to do just that.

Of course, the cost of bank credit "strangled business," but it was Mr. Stevens and his friends who started the strangling and frightened the bankers till they followed suit.

Yes! Edmonton should and must erect a Cenotaph. It will serve a double purpose. It will be an everlasting tribute to the memory of those citizens who died as young as they did. It will represent the spirit of sacrifice and will be also a monument demonstrating the stark tragedy and the futility of war; a daily object lesson to each succeeding generation. It will take away some of the horrors of war.

If every community in the world would erect such a monument, and would see to it that every individual—children in particular—know just what it represented, these would be less prone to forget the lessons of history and the calamities of another world war.

And if Edmonton a Cenotaph would accomplish this, then perhaps our boys will not have died in vain.

It will serve a double purpose.

It will be an everlasting tribute to the memory of those citizens who died as young as they did. It will represent the spirit of sacrifice and will be also a monument demonstrating the stark tragedy and the futility of war; a daily object lesson to each succeeding generation.

It will take away some of the horrors of war.

If every community in the world would erect such a monument, and would see to it that every individual—children in particular—know just what it represented, these would be less prone to forget the lessons of history and the calamities of another world war.

And if Edmonton a Cenotaph would accomplish this, then perhaps our boys will not have died in vain.

When the first week in September,

the Legislature seats funds to erect a Cenotaph, will you remember these things, and do your share? I am sure you will.

I know only too well that, whatever it was that would have made me "happy" a year ago would certainly not make me "happy" today.

A Sound Money Basis Is Absolutely Necessary

By R. Y. ELLIOTT, K.C.

Conditions in Canada are such that in order to bring back earning power, and restore wage scales and salary standards to a degree adequate to support a good standard of living it is absolutely necessary to get away from the principal and interest of public debts, and the manipulation of an unconvincing paper money, and give the nation sound money, secured upon and fixed for retirement out of specified revenues up to the amount of legal tender issued on each specified revenue. You may think this continued writing about sound money is tiresome; but it is one of the most important things to you personally, and to every family in Canada—and you have the right to insist upon it in a word for it because the disquieting facts are of public record. You should carefully study the facts and figures given by Mr. G. C. McDonald, chartered accountant, and retiring president of the Chartered Accountants of Quebec.

Addressing the members, Mr. McDonald issued a reminder that the situation in Canada is already out of hand. To this was coupled a warning that the present rate of taxation in the nation would no longer be able to stand the increasing taxation necessary to cope with a debt which had increased in the chartered bank holdings alone by $216,000,000 in a ten-month period.

At the same time the loans to the Canadian public compared to the deposits from the same public had gone down by $66,000,000 or 8.6 per cent.

"Seven per cent more of the deposits from the Canadian public in Canada is represented by securities of and net advances to Canadian governments. The figure is now 55.8 per cent, compared to 48.8 per cent ten months ago. The ratio of the loans to the Canadian public compared to the deposits from the same public have gone down by 6.6 per cent and are now 44.9 per cent."

"In 1913 the loans to the Canadian public were 93 per cent of the deposits from the Canadian public and then the securities of net advances to Canadian governments were only 8 per cent of the same figure."

"In the ten months the increase in securities of and net advances to Canadian governments—federal, provincial and municipal—was $216,000,000. Loans to the Canadian public are down $56,000,000 and loans outside Canada are down nearly $20,000,000."

"The money markets of London and New York have at last caught up with our credit and the recovery of our values is rapidly being restricted to what remains of the deposits in the Canadian banks. In fact, the situation is now practically one of encyclopedic by governments of funds in the hands of banks, trust companies and insurance firms."

"What is the obligation of these institutions to the owners of the funds they hold in trust? Are they entitled to rely on the ability of the Canadian people to pay off even the increasing taxes necessary to support this mounting debt? Will future generations accept this burden?" Obviously not. We are now engaged in trying to dodge it by the artifice of inflating the currency.

"It is not an exaggeration to say that the situation in Canada is now out of hand. As our debt increases our equity in material resources and the value of our labor goes down correspondingly."

In 1932 the Ottawa government had gone in for monetary inflation. When governments were unable to control expenditures they resorted to this device, since they were unwilling to face real issues. It took courage to put the facts before the public. One of the indirect results of inflation was a reduction of wages and salaries.

These are facts not guesses; and while they remain in force we will have our consuming deflation with us. At as April 30, 1935, the cash deposit in our Canadian banks were two billion and forty-four million dollars. Out of this amount one billion and one hundred and forty million dollars were in government bonds, leaving only nine hundred and eighteen million available for commercial business in Canada, because what little up-front transactions took the rest.

Any man formally submitting a new plan to put the nation's banking facilities on such a basis would be forthwith committed to a hospital for the insane.

The Canadian banking system was created to take care of the commercial needs of Canada. Savings bank monopoly was merged with the ordinary banking so as to give the banking system the power to mobilize capital for economic development. Now the whole thing is frozen in the public debt.

In self-defence the only thing to do is to recall the Liberal party to power; create a new nationally-owned Central bank; take all public bonds out of the chartered banks paying legal tender therefor; and by law provide that the chartered banks take adequate care of the commercial needs of Canada and that in default the new Central bank will efficiently step in and act. Your choice is between Liberalism and deflation.

What's What

Summer clothes will be smart and comfortable, but be sure to pack carefully, keep them dry and pack a coat for evening.

Our Boy and Girl Scouts (average age 11 or 12 years) are to go on a hiking party in August. How can a girl be arranged so as to come along with us along the line? — YOUNG LEADER.

Answer—Her mother must rule for partnered hikes. Each boy is assigned a girl for his first partner.

At the end of ten minutes the halt signal is given. Then all the boys and girls are to go back to their partners and repeat this exercise.

The exercise is to be repeated every ten minutes until the original partners resume their places in line.

ENCOURAGE WAY

You probably be washing your hair more often during the dog days, and if there is a slight wave to your hair you will protect it by parting the hair while wet, retightening your head with a damp heavy bath towel for a little while. Then dry in the sun.

The glass which covers the indicator should be cleaned by being washed with water, sprinkled liberally with ascorbic powder and rubbing over with alka-seltzer.

How to Cure Wife of Senseless Jealousy

DEAR MISS DIX—What must I do with my wife? She is every thing a man could wish for with the exception of her morbid jealousy and suspicion of every woman to whom I even speak. Especially of me. I am a successful businessman. I had been associated with Miss A. in a business way and church affiliations. Once I rendered her three favors, all of which she paid back with a thousand thanks. I have never thought of any sentiment between us.

Miss A. holds a responsible position and her character is excellent. But my wife persists in accusing me of having illicit relationships with Miss A., buying her clothes etc. especially when I am away. She has a bad temper and is always chattering in a pleasurable manner when suddenly, without rhyme or reason, she will flare up and flounce off. Her jealousy is so strong that I am afraid of meeting and denying that I do not even try to defend myself against her silly accusations.

Dorothy Dix never even sees Miss A. My business keeps me occupied every moment throughout the day and I have never been out at night without my wife. What can I do?

PERPLEXED HUSBAND.

ANSWER: Your wife is a case for a psychiatrist. Only one skilled in psychology can probe down into the depths of the primal instinct that makes her do a lot to bring her husband into her power. She is really jealous of her husband and you will find that in reality, she herself knows it. She is trying to bring him under her control by bringing him down to her level.

She is a woman who has been married since her marriage to you.

Wheat Board Is Now Near

M'FARLAND IN OTTAWA SINCE LAST MONDAY

Premier Bennett Confers With Grain Expert Following Illness

OTTAWA, Aug. 7.—Creation of the Canadian Wheat Board in accordance with legislation passed in the last session of the Alberta legislature will probably be completed within a few days with John I. McFarland, Minister of Agriculture, here Tuesday. Mr. McFarland, general manager of the Canadian Co-operative Association, has been retained, and the government's agent in its marketing staff, has been in Ottawa since last Monday.

HELD CONFERENCE

Premier R. B. Bennett stated last night he had had his pleased to receive the grain expert and that he was holding a conference with him. Mr. McFarland, who has no permanent assignment, was made Mr. Bennett indicated he had Mr. McFarland stand in complete charge of the wheat policy.

It is understood only the final decision on the two who will be appointed commissioners to act with Mr. McFarland will be made before the personnel of the board is announced.

SUGGESTION

Complaints of the wheat board legislation will be effective only when proclaimed and there has been no proclamation. Mr. Bennett said, that these clauses be brought into operation with the setting up of the board. He said the new board would work toward marketing of the wheat crop in co-operation with the provinces.

The compulsory clauses would enable the board to take over all values of wheat and control the crop distribution so far as export is concerned.

The prime minister had a brief conference yesterday afternoon with Roy C. MacLennan and Robert Evans, the Winnipeg grain experts, on the matter of trading in October futures. No official statement was issued.

The 21-year-old boy, who had been serving a life sentence in the penitentiary at Edmonton, was committed in 1936, and police had traced Tadimick to through western Canada. His arrest was effected at Cavers, Ont.

They were standing on the studio stage for the new Shirley Temple picture, "Porky's Pig." Fox had seen such "grass" used in pictures, but until that moment never wondered where it came from.

"Half an hour later I got the answer. All that for a simple little light would turn it brown if you asked something more," makes me think.

A studio praise agent was standing nearby, so I asked him about the "grass." He had no idea, so I turned to the shoulders for a reply. Just then

C. G. O'CONNOR ATTACKS BASIC DIVIDEND PLAN

Proven Impossibility of Province Financing Aberhart Scheme

Aberhart proposals were dealt with exhaustively by Gerald O'Connor, Liberal candidate for Edmonton, when speaking on Tuesday night at a public meeting at the School Hall, Calleau. The speaker included the subject in his remarks and also answered a number of questions.

O'Connor's arguments were received with much attention, when he made statements proving the financial impossibility of the plan to finance the payment of a basic dividend to persons over 21 years of age in the neighborhood of $25 per month.

To find the $120,000,000 required to meet the demands of the pensioner, the province would be absolute impossible, he said.

Mr. O'Connor's proposal to tax or levy on the profit made on the sale of goods or products in the province was also discussed. Mr. O'Connor showed that it is not possible to fix prices in the province which would be reasonable for the poor to buy, and under the British North America Act no taxes could be levied on goods sent from another country.

SPLENDID RECORD

Mrs. Marion Conroy, Liberal candidate for Edmonton, spoke of the splendid record that the Liberals in the province had established in the field of education and also pointed out where a number of developments are now due and the need for the attention of the Liberal party.

The extension of the school system, the creation of a free library, the establishment of a public health department, valid humanism; amendments to the Workmen's Compensation act so as to increase the protection of workers, etc., etc.

The meeting was presided over by D. W. Thompson, president of the Edmonton Provincial Liberal association.

NEED MORE ATTENTION TO MENTAL HYGIENE IN SCHOOLS

Dr. Morrish Says
Action Necessary
In Province Now

Speaker

DR. WALTER MORRISH

WILL BE ABLE TO VOTE BEFORE GOING

Prospects of a banner vote in Edmonton in the coming provincial election are improved with the announcement by C.N.R. officials that excursion rates to the Pacific coast, commencing Aug. 22, will continue until Aug. 25.

It was feared that rates would be in effect only on Aug. 22, election day, and with the excursion train leaving at 10 a.m., it was believed that many vacationists might leave the city without voting. However, excursion rates are in effect here until Aug. 22 and that a 21-day stopover at the coast will allow from the date at which the ticket is purchased in Edmonton.

THEY'RE BITING FINE AT JASPER

Here is good news for fishing enthusiasts.

An official report on the trout situation at Jasper, file at the local C.N.R. city ticket offices, states that "there is a healthy increase in both size and number of trout in Maligne Lake, in the Athabasca Lakes and in waters in the Tonquin valley."

The survey further states "that with the onset of warm weather, flies are being taken voraciously."

Liberal Candidate Points to Ever Increasing Cost of Mental Institutions in Alberta — Children Are Greatest Asset.

Emphasizing the necessity for more money to be spent to mental hygiene in the schools, Dr. Walter Morrish, Liberal candidate for Edmonton, when speaking over the radio Tuesday night, said that the most serious situation that faces the province at the present time is the cost of the mental institutions.

He is convinced that action must be taken in regard to the question of the cost of mental institutions in the city school system, there are several hundred boys and girls who never learn to read or write, if they are to become useful citizens, and that their own lives, their schools and special training must be provided for them.

GATES ASSESS

The children are our greatest asset," said Dr. Morrish, and the state should have a medical record on every child, even if at present we can't costly to do so.

Immediate steps must be taken to make available to parents the right to scratch mental records to watch those children who show signs of mental trouble. He understood that 50 per cent of the cases who eventually land in mental institutions have been saved to society if the procedure had been doing what it should be doing.

LITTLE KNOWN

"It is surprising how little is known about the science of mental processes," said the speaker, who recommended to his hearers to read an article in the August number of the Canadian Journal of Psychology.

The Secret of Your Eyes and Down" From this article can be learned that the secret of the eye in emotional energy is stored up or spent. It explains how people can see better after a nap or down in the mouth.

The knowledge in this article should be used to help us to understand ourselves and our friends," said Dr. Morrish, who advised the reader to read the whole article to his satisfaction to this point.

Further, Dr. Morrish advocated education in mental health services, such as are given to children in the city schools, to all school children in the province. No new legislation would be needed for this, but only a working knowledge of the law.

In this connection the speaker presented the banting of doctors in the

SECOND SECTION

FAIR WEATHER IS CONTINUING

Continued fair weather weather, or the encouraging forecast of the Dominion meteorological bureau, a prediction that has held since last Wednesday and Thursday.

The highest point reached by the mercury on Tuesday was 73 and the lowest 50. The mean temperature was 59 again as against 57 for the corresponding day a year ago.

At 8:30 a.m. the sun will rise at 5:01 a.m. and will set at 8:17 p.m.

At midnight the temperature stood at 54, the hour readings from then until 10 a.m. were 50, 52, 53, 52, 50, 53, 53, 59, 61, 63.

INDIANS TAKE TO EDUCATION

One hundred and fifty-seven Indian students were enrolled at the Dominion government residential school north of the city, according to J. F. Woodworth, in charge of the school. Mr. Woodworth is a brother of J. S. Woodworth, federal C.C.F. leader.

Students are taking very readily, Mr. Woodworth stated. For the past 40 years Indians from the southern and northern Alberta have been graduates of residential schools and as a result their children enrol at an early age.

Vocational farm and household economic training is supplied in conjunction with regular studies.

VETS TO MASS AT LEGION SHOW

Retired soldiers in their hundreds and members of units of the Edmonton Garrison are formulating plans of attending shows this fall.

Mr. George E. Pearl, Legion president, has written to the minister of national defence, asking him to permit the Royal Canadian Legion to march in the annual week.

In this language, he informed the press, the picture shows the dead of daring of the Canadian Legion.

It shows how the Canadians held the tip of the Ypres Salient during the war.

The four divisions of the Canadian divisions in line swept up the battle field, and the British, Vimy Ridge, height, that defined even the French veterans of Foch and Haig fell.

This picture will show the bidding Paschendaele marshes; the passing of the Canal du Nord and the Somme, and the other features in a picture replete with the names of the Canadian divisions and the names of the men.

The complainant stated that she was bending over a matress in her back yard when a shot of water fell on her head.

The bullet, which caused the chil, came from a gun held by a member of the Russian army who was on Hollywood-made scenes. They were taken on the field of battle by official photographers for the Canadian and United States governments.

And different will be the scene from those made in California.

While the picture is making its rounds, it is forgotten King George V is shown bidding farewell to Admiral Sir Frederick Jackson, admiral of the British fleet to obliterate Admiral Von Spee and avenge the destruction of Admiral Sir Christopher Cradock.

A less serious but no less glorifying scene is the one in which a car drives into a bridge.

"Let us forget the war, not glorify it," said the author of the picture, and it is a picture that should be seen by all.

Predict State Health Insurance In Most Provinces

MORE MENTAL HYGIENE NEED FOR SCHOOLS

rural parts of the province. It was not necessary for this to be done by direct grants but by providing medical services which could be eventually carried out by members of the preventative branch of the medical profession and paying them for services rendered.

THANKS AUDIENCE
In opening his speech Dr. Morrison said that he wanted to thank his hearers for the kindly expressions of approval that came to him after the previous broadcast.

"I can only repeat what I said there—'on the present occasion I have only one thing in mind and that is to be of some service to my friends in their distress and encouragement.' I am convinced that present conditions call for a new approach and a new attitude to health care and to the end that conditions must be improved we must be prepared to give directions to our service."

"Tonight I will speak for about five minutes at most, I want to say something about the health situation of many people, and how I think we should go about improving services than we are doing at the present time. This room in which I sit has been packed to capacity and an overawing effect on me. To be in a room alone with a microphone and to have a vast audience listening in, makes one feel that the speaker must be important. But I am afraid of his listeners by destructive criticism."

EXPERIENCES RECALLED

"This occasion makes me somewhat reminiscent, and tonight as I sit here, some of the experiences as a general practitioner return to my mind. I have seen the misery and the mental agony that some of my patients must have experienced who live in poverty. I have seen the doctor, who when the new baby was expected, had to be left alone, while the wife lay in bed, the horse, or wound up the old oil lamp and called in first a good neighbor and then a doctor, and finally a doctor. As a good many of my listeners have known from experience, the roads were almost impassable or in the midst of a storm that his service was required, and many times Mrs. Morrison and I have been hard put to find clothes for the children, and heart-rending scenes I have had to witness."

"I could also tell you tonight of doctors who are carrying on in our small towns and villages the work which is so hard and lonely life. Sure they have no name or fame, as food, clothing and shelter, yet a lot goes on in the small towns of those whose income is insufficient to pay their running expenses. They are poor, they work, and yet they are getting cheques from home to keep the wolf from the door."

"It is my conviction that as a nation we have paid too little attention to the poor and the naked life. Sure they have no name or fame, as food, clothing and shelter, yet a lot goes on in the small towns of those whose income is insufficient to pay their running expenses. They are poor, they work, and yet they are getting cheques from home to keep the wolf from the door."

SHOULD BE GREAT AID
The prevention of sickness should be the first aim of the state. "A person well is infinitely cheaper than to look after a sick person," said Dr. Morrison.

"A lot goes on in the small towns of those whose income is insufficient to pay their running expenses. They are poor, they work, and yet they are getting cheques from home to keep the wolf from the door."

"It should be the duty of the state to give help to the poor and the sick. We have available the best that modern scientific medicine can provide irrespective of the individual's financial status. We have not mentioned how far we are from reaching that ideal. True, as we are a nation we have not been able to do these things alone but in cooperation with the Federal government, we have done more than we are doing at the present time. It does seem to me that a provision should be made upon legislation that we should have a record on file of all the cases of tuberculosis, birth, supplemented by a medical examination every two or three years. All the physical and medical amount of suffering both mental and physical would be saved if the state provided the voluntary medical examination."

"We should know where all our crippled children are, and send a cold shiver down the back of my listeners, but it would pay some of us to study the statistics. There are publications in some of the countries such as Sweden, Italy, Russia and Great Britain, which show that conditions vigorous and progressive measures are being taken to meet the needs according to the people."

"I am convinced that in Canada we have not shown the same kind of interest in the health of the sick as have other countries. We have shown and I hope that the health commission appointed by the federal government will be able to work and show what can be done by re-ordinating the effort of the Dominion and provincial departments of health. Alberta is not alone in this. There are other progressive provinces, legislative and may I remind you of the value of hospital insurance, the value of centres, travelling clinics and of the legislation providing for a system of state mental-hospitals of the mentally sick and

Dad was smart, thought his wife proudly. He knew, straight off, this light-skinned woman from India. It was only a few months since it was one of the things you felt in your bones. That young girl in the mirror was a picture of beauty of goods. Quality, all through. Dad had been a bit taken aback when he first met her. She had things that the Millards had never seen. She was a real find, and all, even a high-toned girl like this, had been exhausted after her effort, was content to lie still, buried against him.

The gentleman will have to do now. He took the nurse, and gave her a long, wet comb through her hair, and wets the scalp with water before his ears of this. "You're so beautiful, Katherine. Michael, you're a real find, and all, even a high-toned girl like this, had been exhausted after her effort, was content to lie still, buried against him.

"I'm sorry," he said. "Dad you know, I was wrong."

Michael wrung his hand, not saying anything or hearing anything. "I'm sorry," he said. "Dad you know, I was wrong."

When that was drained, nurse thought Mrs. Darragh arrived, more slowly, and she turned her head toward the slim figure. But the girl was quicker. For all her beauty, she was a real find, and all, even a high-toned girl like this, had been exhausted after her effort, was content to lie still, buried against him.

"I'm sorry," he said. "Dad you know, I was wrong."

She was staring out of the open light of the window, and she saw the two figures moving to her.

DAT'S PANS by BILL LEWIS

THE Joe Louis-King Levinsky heavyweight fight in Chicago will hold complete attention of the continent's boxing followers tonight. . . . It's not that most ring fans don't expect Louis to win, but they like to see what they do. . . . The thing that is causing all the interest in this particular bout is the fact that it is in the back of most minds as to whether the Brown Bomber can stay up. . . . It has been since Detroit's Dynamiter catapulted into theistic limelight that he has been forced to scrub a lot of punishment.

It is this fact that has caused many to question his staying power under a battery of punches. . . . To know, he has always been on the pitching end, we in, in a sense, the about his ability to be a catcher for a while and still keep going on is perhaps natural.

FEW actually expect the colored sensation to rise, though.

It is a real, raw, unorthodox bather in the ex-fish peddler's Chicago, a fighter who has shown himself to be a hard to put out, and has also demonstrated that he can do something more than fight.

The Kingfish has wound up and connected with a powerful punch just often enough to make him a dangerous opponent at all times.

With Louis one of those things is another matter and one which will be decided for us tonight.

Pitching for Calgarystockade, the visiting Royals, Goldie was beaten by a 6-5 margin but the loss cannot be laid at his door.

Even though he did not even win the weak kind of support by his mates on the Calgary team, Goldie did not mind. It's pretty hard to win with that kind of help.
